

Eric Vidal

As frequent partner to Ed Golden, Eric was often underrated. But being on a court opposing him was much different from merely observing him. He didn't seem to hit hard, but he was a big man and the power he generated was deceiving.

His major attribute was his steadiness in conjunction with being able to handle everybody else's power. Vidal was a USHA National Doubles Semi-finalist in 1984, 1987 and 1988. In '89 he was USHA National Doubles Runner-up. In the 1984 USHA Indoor 1-Wall Nationals, Vidal was also runner-up, and from '85 – '87 he was a semi-finalist in that event. In 1989, '93, and '94 he was National YMCA Doubles Champion.
