Kendall Lewis, who married a great handball player, Sydell Smith, was both an excellent 1-wall and 4-wall player. His initiation to handball, however, came in 1-wall. While never a National 1-wall champion, for many years he flirted with that title.

In 1996 he was USHA National 1-Wall Singles Runner-up, and in 2000 and 2004 he achieved that position in the USHA National 1-Wall Doubles. In at least eight other National 1-wall events (USHA, YMCA and World's) Kendall was a semi-finalist either in singles or doubles.

For at least ten years Kendall dominated local and regional 4-wall events, even defeating Eric Klarman in several tournaments. He won the Albany 4-Wall Singles Tournament seven times, and the Albany 4-Wall Doubles seven times as well. He earned the nickname, "Beast from the East."

Kendall Lewis is a member of the Fishkill Hall of Fame.
